SENATE ACCEPTS PRESIDENT'S NOMINATION OF PEORIA MAN.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The nomination of H. M. Pindell of Peoria, to become ambassador to Russia, was favorably reported today by the senate foreign relations committee.

This ends the long dispute that has stirred up diplomatic circles ever since Senator Lewis' incriminating letter was made public. For some weeks the appointment was held up and has been in the senate for some time waiting confirmation.

The senate is now waiting to see if Pindell will take the office for one year and then resign or whether this appointment is for the whole four-year term of the Wilson administration. According to the letters made public he was to take it simply for one year and then give some one else a chance.

Republican Retains Office.

President Wilson decided not to accept the resignation of John Garat, minister of Argentina, formally tendered when President Wilson took office and the minister will continue in the diplomatic service. Mr. Garat was a White House caller today as was also Archbishop Ireland.

OHIO PRISON WARDEN PRAISES HONOR PLAN

Making Life Pleasant for Prisoners Results in Making Model Citizens —Three Classes of Criminals.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 22.—"There's a spark of good in every man," is a motto which Warden Thomas has made his own. He believes that a man isn't a thorough criminal if he can be trusted; normal men have honor and they can be relied upon to a certain extent, some more, some less. Thus, prefacing an explanation of Ohio's new "make man" policy, Warden P. J. Thomas, the first expert criminologist ever in charge of Ohio's famous penitentiary, today told that the honor system among convicts is a success. Warden Thomas has experimented with the honor system in Ohio a little over a year today. Here are a few plain facts about the system as explained by the warden:

About 300 men are working in the open air on their honor. A big percentage of the men are building roads for the state. Guards are not needed; an overseer bosses the work. The largest percent of "honor" men are life termers. They wear blue overalls like ordinary laborers and have Sunday clothes. They go to church on Sundays. They work eight hours a day. They are paid five cents an hour; ninety per cent of the men are dependents, the rest to them. Less than one per cent have tried to escape in a year. Honor men have all served from one to fifteen years behind the bars. One prisoner who was recently sent out to work "on his honor" after sixteen years behind the bars, was badly frightened by a passing automobile. He is serving a life sentence for murder. "The thing that men are best at," said Warden Thomas, "is to know their own minds. Warden Thomas is classified in four divisions," declares the warden. "The first is the feeble minded, criminal by circumstance and by environment. The theory that 'blood will tell' like father like son is all wrong. Men are good for three reasons: those who are higher mentally do right because it is right to do right; a third class do right through fear of punishment. It is the first and second recruits from which Warden Thomas has accomplished what he has. He has eliminated stripes and substituted a light grayed inhuman punishment, such as water cures, chain strings and whippings; put into operation the theory that a full stomach contributes to discipline; build new and better ventilated cells and established a dormitory for 'good' prisoners where several hundred of them will soon have their own tables, chairs and beds with no bars in sight."

PAY TEACHERS MORE FOR SEX EDUCATION

Illinois Instructors at State Convention Give Opinion of Sex Hygiene in Schools.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 22.—Sex hygiene can never be taught successfully in the public schools until the minimum age and wage of the country girl school teacher is raised, in the opinion of Prof. W. B. Miller, secretary of the school of education of the University of Illinois. Reviewing the recent action of the Illinois State Teachers' Association in voting to create a special in the association for the "discussion of moral and religious subjects," looking toward sex education, and the contrary action of the Board of Education of Chicago in voting out sex lectures after four months trial, Miller declared his belief that sex education must come, but that it probably will have to be preceded by distinct preliminary changes in the school system.

"Of course," at the bottom of the question lies the primary fact that the parents ought to instruct their children," said Miller today, agreeing with Governor Dunning and other speakers before the recent state teachers' convention. "But so long as the school system is in a state of confusion, and there appears no likelihood that a majority of them will soon, the school system ought to provide for such degree of the education as seems desirable. Just how far such education should go will first have to be determined. It must be plain to every one that any course in physiology and hygiene which entirely neglects the reproductive or productive organs and functions is incomplete. Educators must decide how to give boys and girls the same knowledge of these organs and functions as they do of the heart or stomach or eye."

Despite the unfavorable start made in Chicago, it seems probable that a few more years of study and experimentation will develop the methods best applicable to city schools. But country schools have a peculiar difficulty. In Illinois, for example, and I believe the average of states will show the same condition, there are over three thousand school teachers receiving a salary of less than $300 a year. I do not argue the merits of higher salaries here, but it is obvious that no persons of great experience and skill in teaching or great tact in the handling of children can be secured for this kind of work. What is the fact? Most of the teachers in the country schools are girls, barely past the minimum age for teachers and with absolutely no experience beyond the grades or perhaps a year or so of high school or normal work. I will never do to trust the teaching of the sex problem to those girls. The blind should not lead, and the unlearned should not be expected to teach."

"It all means then, that there must be a special training for teachers in the sex courses. It will come doubtless with the general tendency toward better teaching of teachers, through the enlargement of normals and colleges and university courses in education."

GRAND JURY PROBES CHARGES OF REBATE TO SWIFT AND CO.

Will Inquire Whether Chicago Packers Received $60,000 From Ann Arbor Railroad.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Investigation of the charges that Swift and company, packers of Chicago, profited to the extent of $60,000 by which is said to have been in the form of a rebate arrangement with the Ann Arbor railway company, was begun by the federal grand jury here today.

Dozens of packers and railway men were among the witnesses brought before the inquisitorial body. The shipments involved are said to have been carried by other roads not named in the charge to points on the Ann Arbor road, the main line of which runs to Toledo, Ohio, to Frankfort, Mich.

This road is alleged to have hauled consignments of beef at less than carload rates. The beef was "peddled" from towns along the line, it is alleged.

Most of the beef was consigned to the Saginaw Beef company of Saginaw, Mich. One shipment to Owosso, Mich., has been closely investigated by government agents.

Mr. Gann of the interstate commerce commission is acting with District Attorney Wickersham in the case. Inquiry may require a week or more.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 22.—John Lyon, auditor of freight receipts, and U. G. Couffer, chief of the traffic bureau of the Pennsylvania railway lines west of Pittsburgh, were subpoenaed to appear at 11 o'clock this morning before the grand jury in connection with charges that the Pennsylvania system has been paying rebates on wheat shipments by the W. H. Merritt Co.

MANAGEMENT OF THE HOSPITAL MAKE AN OFFER TO WORKMEN

PAYMENT OF FIFTY CENTS A MONTH FOR TWO YEARS ASSURES THEM OF CARE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

By the payment of fifty cents a month for the next two years, every working man in Janesville will be given the opportunity of not only aiding the Palmer Memorial Mercy hospital, but also insuring property care and treatment for himself, should he be taken sick or suffer from an accident. This is the first step on the part of the management of the hospital to demonstrate to the citizens that if given the opportunity, they will be able to aid materially in the welfare and comfort of the residents of Janesville.

Recently two well known workmen visited the Gazette and expressed themselves as in hearty accord with the idea of keeping Janesville's only hospital open, and voiced a sentiment that has been heard frequently during the present campaign, that the workmen desired some assurance that in case of illness or accident, they would not be left without the means to pay for their care. The management of the Palmer Memorial hospital authorized the Gazette to make public the following plan, by which such cases can be cared for.

The following form of subscription card is to be passed among the workmen of the mills, and, in fact, among workmen throughout the Janesville district. They will be asked to sign it and make their donations regardless of any promise of return, yet the hospital offers a health insurance plan, which will return for a very small monthly payment. Following is the form of pledge card which, when signed by any man employed by any responsible employer, entitles him to full and complete care whenever ill or injured. The card reads:

Janesville, Wis., January —, 1914.

The undersigned hereby agrees to pay to S. M. Smith, treasurer of Mercy Hospital, Janesville, the sum of fifty cents per month for the term of two years, the same to entitle subscriber to free, complete treatment for as long a period as necessary in case of sickness or injury, and to receive fifty cents to be collected by subscriber's employer, who is authorized to deduct said amount from pay roll each month.

Signed _____
Residence _____ Employed by _____

In case subscriber changes his place of employment this card should be transferred.

This insurance may be renewed at the same terms at the expiration of two years.

The hospital management finds the average workingman dislikes the idea of being carried to a hospital unless he is able to pay his way. He revolts at the idea of being a charity patient. Yet the cost of living is so high and most people live so nearly up to the limit of their means that there are few who are prepared, when sickness or injury befalls, to pay for hospital treatments, especially if these are to be continued for any great period.

The majority of workmen are desirous of doing their share toward supporting the necessary public and philanthropic institutions and even if there were no return guaranteed or held out there would be thousands of dollars contributed to Mercy hospital in the present campaign from employees of Janesville's largest employers and the hospital management therefore agree that the plan that has resulted from the workmen's suggestion in the Gazette is a remarkably good one.

This does not mean, however, that there will be less inclination on the part of the hospital people to do charity work. The plan will enable them to do more than before, and any man who is now in good health and is working should refuse to subscribe to the hospital on this plan and if he should become ill or from some other cause be taken to the hospital, he will be as welcome as anybody. However, his peace of mind would not be just the same if he realized he was not contributing to pay his way and had refused and was at last there, a purely public charity patient.

MEXICAN SITUATION STANDS UNSETTLED

FIVE SPEAKERS PRESENT ABLE TALKS ON SAVAGE COUNCIL TRY AT BROTHERHOOD.

PEOPLE ARE SHIFTLESS

Patriotism is Essential in Southern Country—Pictures on Screen Prove Interesting.

A complete history, comprising the happenings of from five years ago up to the present day, and even into the future, was the outlay of the talks and remarks by the five speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Congregational Men's Brotherhood, who met last evening in the church parlors. A delicious supper was served at 6 o'clock, and the speakers about forty were present. Music by the church orchestra was most inspiring during the early part of the evening.

Eugene T. Fish was toastmaster for the evening. He called first upon Prof. H. C. Buell, who read an interesting paper written on the conditions in Mexico at the present time. Practically every statement was challenged by the men present. Some of the facts in the article were ridiculous, and Prof. Buell took the opportunity to rectify many of the arguments himself, the article being written by an editorial writer.

The various presidents, namely Diaz, Madero, Huerta and Carranza were referred to more or less being laid on Diaz, who became a tyrant of his country by his ruling.

Otto A. Oestreich was next called upon to fill W. O. Newhouse's place on the program. "Huerta and What He Stands For," was the title. "Huerta was under the regime of Diaz for a long time," said Mr. Oestreich. "He was an army officer, was a graduate of a southern military school, and was a member of the Mexican army until he entered the household of Diaz and his family. Through his characteristic of good-fellowship, which was one of his strong faculties, he became a brother to Madero's household. Then the fight began."

"There is a rule in Mexico today which has been a part of the government of ages. The law dates back to the time when men were imprisoned for not paying their debts. This very factor was the main abuse, I believe, which caused the first uprising and dissatisfaction in Mexico. The people no longer wanted the penance service, but they had to face it just the same. They revolted, a part of them under Madero, who was killed. Whether Huerta killed him or not remains to be settled. Huerta was a strong believer in being the champion of the people, and he was in the system of politics and in being the head of the country. Carranza at present leads the opposition forces to Huerta. The outcome will be found out in the next few days as they appear in the paper."

Herbert J. Cunningham on "The Rebel Movement and What It Represents," was alive with facts all of the time. He rebel movement has for its foundation. "When you can safely state, by the aid of statistics, that in one place, one family is the possessor of two million acres, you have a good idea of why the rebellion was started. But 7,000 people own and control all of the Mexican territory."

"When Madero became president he promised to be democratic and give back the lands to the people. This he didn't do. The people objected and revolted, which led to his assassination later. What Mexico needs is industrial emancipation."

Arthur M. Fisher read a paper prepared by E. D. McGowan, who was unable to be present. "Should U. S. intervene?" was the topic of his reading. In this paper Mr. McGowan heartily endorsed President Wilson's policy, which contained the negative statement regarding the United States intervening at present. Conditions must change before this country can safely enter into any argument with our neighbors.

F. P. Lewis was the next speaker. He showed on the screen portraits of the various rulers who have since the destruction of Mexico. The men present studied the characteristics of Diaz, Madero, Huerta, and Carranza, and the latter met with favor as being the most honest and the least in disposition. Other scenes were shown.

Prof. Buell was called upon for remarks. He stated: "The people of Mexico are not yet ready to become good citizens and to appreciate good government. They are not yet ready to appreciate anything. The question arises, why do they pay such low wages in Mexico? Because the people only work until they can collect a few pennies and then they are over, they are ready to go back to work penniless. The people of Mexico are not refined or thrifty enough to help their country as yet."

They will never prosper until they can settle down and talk business, then let them be taught the rudiments of good government."

SOLOISTS TRIUMPH IN OPERA PROGRAM

Joseph Sheehan's Company Presents Gems From Old Favorites at Myers Theatre.

Gems from the popular operas, Verdi's "Il Trovatore," Balfe's "Bohemian Girl" and Flotow's "Martha" were artistically sung by the members of the Joseph Sheehan English Opera Company at the Myers Theatre last evening. It was purely a feast of wonderful singing, the cast being limited to the four soloists and nothing pretentious being offered in the way of stage settings. But each and every soloist was a delight, each of the four soloists was an artist of decided ability and the fact that their program was composed of the old favorites made it most acceptable. The audience was warmly appreciative although its proportions were not what they should have been.

The tower and dungeon scenes were given from "Il Trovatore." Mr. Sheehan's singing of the "Miserere," "I Have Sighed to Rest Me," was exceptionally fine, his melodic, tenor, rich and full, and wonderfully expressive. Antoinette Le Brun as Leo-nora, sang with dramatic fervor and displayed her clear soprano in a pleasing style. Harold J. Gels, as Count di Luna, improved the exceptional opportunity to test the merits of a strong and well controlled baritone voice. But it was to Lydia Sturtevant, contralto, the fourth member of Mr. Sheehan's company, that the honors of the "Trovatore" scenes went. Her rendition of the beautiful "Home to Our Mountains," was all that the most critical could wish for. In no other number was Miss Sturtevant's rich and cultured voice more effectively displayed. Nor should Mr. Sheehan's company be the least of the evening, for the blending of their voices was near perfection itself.

From "The Bohemian Girl" there were four favorites, excellently given and appreciated as much, probably, as any of the whole program. Miss Le Brun sang "I Dreamt I Dwell" with fine feeling and wonderful tone coloring. Miss Sturtevant scored another triumph in "Bliss Forever." Then came "The Bohemian Girl" and "You'll Remember Me," while "The Closing Trio" with Mr. Sheehan, Mr. Gels and Miss Le Brun was roundly applauded.

The selections from "Martha," which included the gems of the second act of that opera, closed the evening's program. Miss Le Brun sang the well known "Last Rose of Summer," most delightfully and the two soloists were well matched in that, which was wished for. The lighter, livelier music of these pieces was a pleasing contrast to the more dramatic selections from the two previous operas.

MILWAUKEE IS UP IN ARMS OVER ATTACKS ON THE STATE FAIR

Bart J. Ruddle, Sends Open Letter to Press of the State Repudiating the Story.

Bart J. Ruddle, who is well known in Janesville and one of the publicity men in Milwaukee whose work is boosting his home city, is sending out through the state the following open letter to the public relative to the recent attack made by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association of that city on the state fair. Mr. Ruddle, by the way, is publicity agent for the state fair and he says:

The unwarranted attack on the state of Wisconsin's legislature, its state board of agriculture, and its state fair made by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, has caused unanimous repudiation of that organization by the more business organizations who are more closely related to the varied and allied lines of business comprising the commercial life of the metropolis.

The statement, which shamed the common sense and the loyalty of the people of Milwaukee without warning or intimation of any kind. It was unlooked for, uncalculated for and without any business purpose. Men are dumbfounded by an explanation of the conduct of the association's officers.

It has been known for some time, however, that friction exists among the people of Milwaukee. That President Blumenfeld's refusal to accept a second term at the head of the organization and the issuance of the attack on the state fair, within a few days of each other, were more in the nature of coincidental happenings than a mere coincidence.

There have been numerous slights in connection with this glaring error of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association. One that attracts particular attention is the fact that William George Bruce, secretary of the association, the voluble talker, the fluent writer, has been speechless since he left sent the attack on the state fair. He has not been able to give an explanation of the attack on the state fair, within a few days of each other, were more in the nature of coincidental happenings than a mere coincidence.

The high handed methods of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association are now a matter of the past. No more will the high salaried dictator of Milwaukee's big business association be permitted to speak for Milwaukee. The big guns have been spiked and muzzles have been applied to those resorting them.

The scurrilous state fair declaration of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has been a good thing for Milwaukee and a good thing for Wisconsin. It has awakened the people of the metropolis to a knowledge of conditions that have been dormant for years, and the people of this city are unanimous in conceding that the attack on the state and its state fair is an unpardonable and a disgraceful act and those responsible for it now see the handwriting on the wall.

Milwaukee lost no time in recalling the Merchants' and Manufacturers' statement and it did not consult the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association as to its wisdom in doing so. The Citizens' Business League, the Milwaukee Hotel Keepers' Association, the Milwaukee Automobile Dealers' Association, the Theatrical Managers' Association and a score of other influential business bodies, hasten to apologize for the misguided Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association's actions and are doing all they can to counteract the assault on the state fair.

Milwaukee wants the state fair and it will prove it. Committees are at work to raise the necessary funds to insure the holding of the 1914 state fair and there will be no trouble in doing this without assistance of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, in fact, it is already accomplished.

This action completely repudiates the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, its directors, its officers and its committees responsible for the attack and while it is the first time that Milwaukee has dared to question the word or ultimatum of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, it is regarded as the beginning of a progressive business men's policy in Milwaukee that will ultimately relegate the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association to the second division and elevate the Citizens' Business League to the distinction of being the leading commercial organization of the state. The Citizens' Business League has always been the champion of the state fair.

The state fair will be held in Milwaukee as usual. It will take on new life, despite the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, and it will be more representative of the whole state than ever before. It will be a great success.

Sport Snap Shots

Mr. Weeghmann, one of the owners of the Chicago Feds, was a poor waiter ten years ago. Today he is the owner of a large restaurant in the Windy City with quite a pile of rocks, Charley Murphy, president of the Cubs, was a soda water salesman some years ago in Cincinnati, but he seldom speaks of that now.

Johnny Coulton put the rollers under a fresh guy who strolled into his camp the other day. It seems the party was a lightweight scrapper and he came to Coulton's quarters with an eye toward showing up the bantam champ in the presence of a host of admirers. Upon entering the place the rude person opened up with a line of caustic comment meant to get a rise out of Coulton. Johnny thought the fellow was kidding at first and paid little attention, but when this uncouth person continued and became more abusive Johnny got good and sore and agreed to bat his block off. There would have been a fast little bare-handed fight if others had not stepped in and interfered. Gloves were offered the fighters and in about two minutes of fast mulling the fresh arrival was cold on the floor. "I never saw the fellow before," said Johnny, "and don't believe he ever wants to see me again."

They say Bat Levinsky's lack of weight is one of his greatest assets. Levinsky, a light heavyweight, weighs about 170 pounds in most of his fights and he is often giving away 20 or 30 pounds, as he has met many men weighing 200 or near it. Quite a few of Levinsky's admirers have pointed out that he is to be lauded on this score, but the truth of the matter is that his lack of weight is a distinct advantage.

His reach and height are the equal of any heavy he is apt to go up against and his lighter weight makes him much more agile and lively than the average 200-pound fighter. Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Dempsey were this to be the case. The heavier men get little advantage from their added weight and they are greatly handicapped when they meet a faster and lighter opponent.

The Ritchie-Murphy fight has been postponed again. Poor old Harlem Tommy must be feeling pretty dubious about that fight by this time. The jinx seems to be doing a tango on its trail. It will be Murphy's first chance at a champ in his long career and every few days something occurs to shove it a little further away. A postponement isn't much, but it shows that the jinx is still active.

Jack Dillon doesn't step on the scales when he wants to know whether he's in fighting shape. He wears a ring on one of his fingers that tells him accurately just when he is in proper trim. When heavy and over weight the ring fits his finger tightly, but after training a while the ring slips around loosely and Jack knows that he's fit.

Some energetic sport fan who is also a bug for autos has doped out the following team and claims they can beat all comers for the carburator championship:

Chalmers, Pierce, Packard, White, Cole, Chase, Benz, Baker, Stutz, Ford, Maxwell, Davis, Mitchell and Jackson.

They are all big league players and the joke is that all their names are also the names of particular makes of motor.

Johnny Kilbane, it seems, is the best white hope we have. A study of the dope shows that Johnny alcho a mere featherweight, can lick any heavy on the boards today. In this manner:

Levinsky beat Jim Flynn, as good as the average white hope. McAllister put it on Levinsky, and then Middleweight-Welterweight Gibbons knocked out McAllister. McGorty and Dillon are treated even up and as McGorty licked Gibbons, then Dillon is ranked as better than Gibbons. Ray Bronson owns a decision over Dillon, and Bronson is considered a second-class boxer. If Ritchie can lick Bronson, then Kilbane, being counted as better than Ritchie, can do so that trick and by clever dovetailing of fights and records we have Johnny Kilbane, white hope.

MILLER'S BOWLERS IN PRACTICE GAME

Jamesville Bowling Fans Taking Interest in Preparation of Five for State Tournament.

While the Miller's five, defeated the picked Federal team at the alleys last night, they failed to show the necessary form that would land them in the melon cutting at the state tournament. In the first game they only totaled 781, but in the last session they marked up 829, with a grand total of 2439 which is seven points short of records at previous state tournaments. Merick was off form last night and failed to better 107. Osborn was high man with 203, finishing with an average of 125. The Federals gave the tournament a five a good run but were an even hundred points from copping the honors.

Considerable interest is being taken by local bowling fans in the state tournament which is to be held at the Colonial and Park alleys at Madison from January 23 to February 9th.

The entry list shows that there has been 205 five men teams, 369 two men teams, and 682 individuals entered in the meet.

The prizes set up for the winners amount to $3,553.50, which will be distributed as follows: Fifty-five men teams to split a total of $1,470, the high team getting $160. Seventy-two prizes have been set for the two-men events, the high team getting $80. In individual events 106 bowlers will split a fund amounting to $1,068, high man landing a $60 prize. Besides these cash funds the Wisconsin Bowlers association will give five gold medals to the high five-men team, two to the high two-men team, and one medal to the high individual bowler. Langtry medals will be awarded to the high man in the events. Special prizes donated to the following team will be given for five-men single game, second high score, single game, and the Bismark trophy for individual high man for three games in the five-men team events. The five-men team will bowl between 9:30 and 11:30 in the evening, February 3rd. Many Jamesville fans are expecting to make the trip on this night. On February 4th, Neighbors and Osborn and Cook and Merick bowl from ten to eleven in the morning in the two-men events. On the same date during the noon hour Osborn, Neighbors, Cook and Abraham will bowl in the individual events.

BASEBALL FOLLOWERS WATCH FEDERAL WAR

Outlaw League Magnates Signing Major League Stars Causing Stir Among Big Magnates.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

With Joe Tinker signing up big leaguers for his Chicago team and all reports indicating that President Weeghman has no regard for players when it comes to signing up money, information as to the making up of some of the teams would be interesting. This is one baseball muss, however, in which the fan, the fellow who pays his money, may sit back and smile. He stands to lose out on whether the Federal League lives or dies. If it lives and puts up good baseball at popular prices—well that will be one step toward lowering the cost of living. If it does (which doesn't seem a matter worth worrying over at present) judging from the lusty swaths handed the National League) the "organized" baseball interests will probably come from the post mortem considerably chastened and much wiser. A league is not going to be held up long, however, with one, or possibly two strong clubs, in the circuit. The race must be reasonably close to keep up interest. If the Federal League hasn't the way of disbanding players they may find Joe Tinker and his Chicago bunch breaking through hands down. Indianapolis won the pennant last year, but where will Bill Phillips and his team stand this year with the Chicago bunch. St. Louis, St. Paul, Brown, Baltimore, Otto, Knabe and Kansas City, George Stovall, but one man doesn't make a ball team anymore. One high class man makes a difference in a mediocre club, but he can't necessarily put up a fight against a well balanced team.

Baseball may be sentimental to a certain extent, but they are going to spend their cash with the best get the best baseball for the money. The American League got them, and the Feds will draw their share if they deliver the goods. Crowds are not going to be attracted, however, with one or two fast class teams and the rest hopping along on crutches. Every league must have its top and bottom of the percentage column, of course. This means that there will probably always be St. Louis, Brown, Cardinals, Brooklyn, etc. But there must be a balance. Every league will have its one or two weak teams, but five or

"WILD BOB" BURMAN BUILDING NEW CAR

Speed King Building Special Made Space-Eater to Win Indianapolis Sweepstakes Next Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Jan. 22.—While the National and American Leagues are fixing their fences, the Federal League is making their "hair-raising" midnight raids on the "organization" corrals, and college crews beginning to lumber up, things are also stirring in automobile circles for the big sporting event of the year in that line. The 500 mile sweepstakes run on the speedway at Indianapolis is now the real thing, and is concerned and manufacturers and drivers are already making preparations for the grid.

Bob Burman, "Speed King," who made more of a record as an exhibition driver in smashing records than by piloting cars to victory in open competition is out this year with a resolve to cop the Indianapolis classic.

In the first place he is building a special car at Battle Creek. This car is Burman's idea of the last word in speed construction. It is to carry a sixteen valve motor to each cylinder, and is generally framed along lines figured to pull every ounce of power and speed possible. Many of the foreign made racing cars are now equipped with the sixteen valve motor, but this feature is new to American machines. Burman has also rejiggered the usual arrangement of seats alongside the driver on the racing arm. The seat for his mechanician is to be set alongside the driver, as usual, but back some six inches or more. The mechanician's body will therefore be on a line with the back of Burman's seat, leaving free arm room for steering the car. Burman found that his elbow was constantly bumping his mechanician in his old cars.

The new racing car is to be equipped with wire wheels as Burman believes they are now the most practical. "I did things last year with wire wheels," said Burman, "that would have meant certain up-set had I been using wooden wheels. Wire wheels are stronger and better in every way. One day last summer my mechanic was hitting it down the road better than fifty miles an hour when he went off a bridge. The car plunked into space and fell fifty feet on a railroad track, landing upright on the wheels. The mechanic escaped with hardly a scratch and the wheels on the machine were scarcely put out of true. The wooden wheels would have been smashed to pieces."

Burman has decided to withdraw from the barn-storming game he has been following. He has sold his Benz car and will confine his racing to the big open events with his special car. His efforts will be centered on the Indianapolis race. Burman covered one lap of the speedway at the rate of an hour last year and believes he will be able to better than this year with his new speeder.

JANESVILLE NIMRODS MAKE APPLICATION

Local Fishermen to Apply to State Commission for Shipment of Small Fry to Plant.

Jamesville anglers are in hopes of obtaining between ten and fifteen thousand small fry of pike and bass for planting in Rock river from the state commission and the petitions will be sent to the Madison authorities within a short time.

Nimrods here lament the decreasing amount of sport that has followed the years past, and urge a united plan to restock the river. Carp and other rough fish have been blamed for the falling off of the sport, and as there has been no attempt at seeding, the coming year is expected to be very poor for the anglers. With the planting of this amount of fry it is claimed under favorable conditions the sport will be increased.

HIGHS CONFIDENT OF DEFEATING ELKHORN

Stickney May Not Make Trip With Squad, on Account of Sickness—Team is Developing.

Following the shift made Tuesday evening at the regular practice of the local high school basketball squad, the five are showing a decided increase in speed, and bid fair toward winning the coveted title as champs of southern Wisconsin. Their only obstacle, they feel, is Madison, and they are going to make an extra effort to subdue the Capital City lads, in hopes of holding a clear claim, thus saving them from being forced into any elimination games by the Lawrence college management.

The five are ready for Elkhorn. They will make the trip Friday with inspired confidence, following a disastrous defeat at the hands of Freeport last week. It is rumored that Stickney will not make the trip, as he has been kept out of school so far this week because of sickness. His loss will be felt considerably, as he is the only substitute that can really be depended upon.

What the team needs now is a little encouragement. Atwood is fast developing speed on dribbling and floor work. So far, Dalton and Hemming are the only two men on the regular five who can keep up with him, with the exception of Stickney who was at Atwood, made Freeport look sick for a time, by their clever floor work in the second half last Friday night.

Hemming is improving on basket shooting which is his strong point. Dalton is still roughing things up a bit, but he is gradually getting over the habit of deliberately fouling. His quick shots are almost impossible to guard and at guard he should prove a hard obstacle to get by.

Stewart and Rau are fast improving. Both men will, after a few games, be able to hold their own through any uprisings that might turn up.

Barnes will make the trip as first sub, in the absence of Stickney, and it is possible that Badger may come every reason to believe that if Badger were given a chance, in a real game that he would prove a star. He is energetic and has the game mastered good. A little coaching would in a few weeks, make an ideal sub out of him, and a man that could be depended upon. All he needs is speed.

MILTON VICTORIOUS OVER PLATTEVILLE

College Five Beat Normal Quintet in a Close Game in Normal School Gymnasium.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milton, Jan. 22.—The Milton college basketball five defeated the Platteville State Normal team on the latter's floor last Tuesday night by a score of 37 to 31. The game was very close and hotly contested all the way through. The lead shifted from one team to the other every few minutes. Just before time was called in the last half a few sensational baskets gave Milton a lead of six points, the largest held at any time during the game and so the game ended. The lineup was as follows:

Lush	.....	Sutherland
Nelson	.....	Fellows
Sorenson	.....	Hemming
	.....	Dyer
	.....	Millman

THE PRAIRIES

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Much of the United States is grand and peculiar, sticking up as far as three miles into the climate in spots. Still more of our much beloved country, however, is flat and unexciting except at harvest time. A section of the United States which has only two dimensions, length and breadth, is called a prairie.

The great prairies begin at the Missouri River and roll gently westward towards the setting sun almost far enough to scare said sun off of its nest. When discovered, those prairies are a vast, level, unbroken expanse of green, with a few scattered trees and shrubs. The prairie is a vast, level, unbroken expanse of green, with a few scattered trees and shrubs. The prairie is a vast, level, unbroken expanse of green, with a few scattered trees and shrubs.

AND HE DID

When man came rudely westward, elbowing his way through the primitive solitudes, he took the prairies for a vast, level, unbroken expanse of green, with a few scattered trees and shrubs. The prairie is a vast, level, unbroken expanse of green, with a few scattered trees and shrubs. The prairie is a vast, level, unbroken expanse of green, with a few scattered trees and shrubs.

The prairie is no longer a wild, free thing. Even its climate has been changed and its supply of wind cut down 75 per cent. It is bound up in barbed wire, railroads and telephones, and man has begun to stick skyscrapers into the prairie tanks. No one mourns for the old-fashioned prairie, however. It was as grand as the boundless ocean; as inconvenient to have in the middle of one's business.

DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR, ITCHY SCALP. END THIS AT ONCE—25 CENT DANDERINE.

Girls! Girls! Save your hair! Make it grow luxuriant, beautiful—a delightful dressing. If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots fash, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy, or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made. We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff, no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

WEATHER FORECAST.

It will be warm—probably with snow tonight and Friday. The winds will be from the southeast and increase in strength.

THE MESSAGE.

The president's message, read before both houses of congress, Tuesday noon, is a candid recognition of the spirit of corporations to comply with the law, and express a desire to meet this spirit more than half way.

The country will take on new life with the assurance that for the future business is to be encouraged and not hampered by over-regulation. The message also contains a hopeful note for the railroads, by suggesting that laws be passed which shall aid them in financing extensions and betterments. When this is done, it may be possible to influence large blocks of capital to invest in legitimate channels.

Perhaps the most hopeful feature of the message is, that it is not radical enough to suit the progressives, and that it pleases both democrats and republicans because of its conservatism.

The nation has had enough of radical reform, and with the strength of the two old parties united, the prospects for an era of sanity are improving. This is better by far than the success of any party.

What the state of Wisconsin needs, just now, is a getting together of its conservative forces regardless of party affiliations. This is the only way the state can be redeemed and this is a good year for the redemption.

The Chicago inter Ocean, in commenting upon the portion of the message that had to do with the prosperity of the railroads, makes the following statement:

"The part of President Wilson's message to congress yesterday which will probably command the widest attention is that which relates to the situation of the railroads and their need of relief. Mr. Wilson recognizes and downrightly declares the abiding truth:

"The prosperity of the railroads, and the prosperity of the country are inseparably connected."

"This is necessarily and permanently true, since upon efficient transportation depends wide and free interchange of commodities, without which trade is confined to petty local fields and men are barred from that larger prosperity which results from ability to supply their needs from the most abundant sources."

"Mr. Wilson does not accept as a sufficient remedy a mere permission to increase rates for railway service. He seeks a primary cause of railway troubles and finds it in an unwarranted combination of other interests with the business of transportation. On this point he declares:

"Business men, as well as those who direct public affairs, now recognize, with painful clearness, the great harm and injustice, which has been done to many if not all the great railroad systems by the way in which they have been financed and their own distinctive interests subordinated to the interests of the men who financed them and of other business interests which those men wished to promote."

"Whether that statement be universally true or not, that it contains a large measure of truth is notorious. In that truth is the explanation of the secret rebate, and other offenses of railway management and control which so exasperated the public mind that it became almost impossible to obtain a fair hearing for the railways from the masses of citizens."

"To end such conditions and abuses finally, Mr. Wilson proposes that the interstate commerce commission be given power to superintend and regulate the financial operations by which the railroads are henceforth to be supplied with the money they need for their proper development to meet the rapidly growing requirements of the country for increased and improved facilities of transportation."

"Mr. Wilson regards this as 'one step, and a very important one, toward the necessary separation of the business of production from the business of transportation.' Whether such separation be wholly necessary or possible, none save incorrigible fanatics will deny Mr. Wilson's assertion that measures of relief from the present railway situation cannot be postponed 'without leaving the railroads exposed to many serious handicaps and hazards,' under which the prosperity of the whole country and of all its people is bound to suffer most seriously."

"It is evident that President Wilson regards the railway situation as the distinctly 'bad spot' in the country's general outlook. In that judgment he is undoubtedly correct. The situation of the railways has become acute and is growing dangerous. Its effective relief is the country's most immediate and urgent business need."

SICK INSURANCE PLAN.

In another column of the Gazette will be found a statement from the management of the Palmer Memorial Mercy hospital relative to a plan for sick-insurance to which every workman in Janesville is eligible. It is a grand movement which the Sisters of Mercy have started and should do much to aid in the present work of raising funds to wipe out the indebtedness of the hospital. The campaign is progressing rapidly and but two days more remain so that every citizen interested in the work at hand should do his part. Meanwhile the working man can do his share and at the same time insure himself by the monthly payments for two years, as pledge slips provide.

Now is the winter of discontent become the seething, boiling political pot. The first gun in the spring election campaign for judicial honors has been fired and the battle is on.

Thus far there have been no avowed candidates for the office of commissioner to succeed Milhorne, but doubtless many will appear when the time comes.

While no official date has been set for the formal opening of the Milwaukee street bridge, it is probable that it will be an accomplished fact within a few days now.

A New Haven workman found a silver dollar of 1804, said to be worth $3,500. But most of us would be happy to find a plain, everyday silver dollar worth 100 cents.

A French physician says that dancing the tango causes wrinkles. But probably he refers to the new wrinkles constantly appearing in the tango.

The society for the prevention of rash acts might do worse than give early attention to the prevalence of the bichloride of mercury tablet.

The New York judge who held that skirt weights are a proper part of women's attire probably had the benefit of a little home inspiration.

On the Spur of the Moment

An Unpopular Song.
(Designated for the Motion Picture Houses.)

Just Wait Until the Ghost Walks, Mamie, dear.

A young bride to her husband said, unto him she did say,
One morning when the sun was in the east:

"We've got to have a box of breakfast food to eat today."
We also must annex a cake of yeast."

Her hubby then addressed her and his tears were falling fast,
His optics they were swollen up and red:

"Say not, say not, such unkind things," he cried aloud at last,
And then to her these mournful words he said:

CHORUS.
"Just wait until the ghost walks, Mamie, dear; Mamie, dear,
I'll get your cake of yeast then, never fear, never fear,
When they print my latest story, I'll have breakfast food and glory,
Just wait until the ghost walks, Mamie, dear; Mamie, dear."

SECOND STANZA.
(Thirty-nine years are supposed to elapse.)

Each day for nearly forty years the editor he sought,
And wife's switch had turned from brown to gray.

And now a box of breakfast food had her fond hubby bought—
The cake of yeast was still quite far away.

Until one sad November day, the man he discovered singing bright,
They called around and got him with a dray.

And took him to the toothless farm,
His noodle wasn't right,
And never more to wife will he say:

CHORUS.
"Just wait until the ghost walks, Mamie, dear; Mamie, dear,
But when it does, no yeast you'll need, I fear; need, I fear,
For they may get to my story, When you're ninety-five and hoary,
So wait until the ghost walks, Mamie, dear; Mamie, dear."

Seasonable Verse.
Hot water bags and mustard plaster,
Quinine, capsules by the score,
Hot foot balm and linseed poultice,
Sulphur dope—we all adore.

Influenza, spavin, ringbone,
Jaundice, pleurisy and pip,
All combined don't trouble me,
To the old bone-jarring grip.

Personal.
Housewife—If your husband kicks on his meals, go home and visit your folks for three months and let them browse around the quick lunch counters. This is an absolute and harmless cure.

Mrs. Z.—There is no reason why you should continue to be troubled with red ants in your pantry even if you do think you have tried everything.

First catch the ant, then place him on the cement steps back of the kitchen and hit him on the head with a hammer good and hard. Repeat this plan until all of the ants have been exterminated. You may have been exterminated. You may be an old woman by this time, but you will have accomplished something during your life. Another good way to get rid of red ants in your pantry is to move and leave them for the next tenant.

STATE FAVORED IN RULING OF THE FEDERAL JUDGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Wis., Jan. 22.—Judge A. L. Sanborn of the federal court today declined the motion of the Corn Products Refining Company to set aside certain claims from the answer of Attorney General Clegg in the company's injunction suit to revise the enforcement of the corn syrup label law. The ruling favors the state.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, Jan. 22.—Messrs. and Mesdames W. N. Cobb and E. H. Cobb left Wednesday for a Chicago visit of a few days.

Charles Peebles accompanied his mother to Janesville, Wednesday, where she will take treatments for rheumatism.

Dr. H. D. Kirkpatrick went to Milwaukee, Wednesday, to attend a dental meeting.

Dr. A. N. Lawton went Wednesday to Madison for a conference.

Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Austin and daughter, Mrs. Caras Cole, were passengers to Janesville, Wednesday.

Mrs. Lentell of Wilsey, Kansas, is a guest at the home of Clark Williams.

Dr. E. J. Mitchell has lately been appointed local railroad surgeon.

The two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scogen who recently was severely scalded with hot water, has been taken to the hospital at Beloit.

Mrs. Ed. Bright is somewhat better. Dr. H. B. Gifford of Juda was in Brodhead, Wednesday, on account of the illness of his daughter, Mrs. A. Dinsdale.

CLINTON

Clinton, Jan. 22.—Jerome Terwilliger has asked bids for building on forty feet to the rear of his new garage on Main street.

Mrs. E. G. Pease, who accompanied her husband to the Sacred Heart sanitarium last Saturday, returned home Tuesday night.

Engineer Slevier at the creamery has purchased the two vacant lots just east of the German church on High street and expects to build there on in the near future. His family has remained in Janesville all the time Mr. Slevier has been here because of their inability to rent a desirable house in this city.

Doctors Schinneck and Mowers of Beloit were here Monday, calling on the Clinton doctors.

H. A. Moehlenpach attended the bankers' conference with Secretaries McCadd and Houston at Chicago Monday and Tuesday and was accorded the honor of a seat at the speaker's table on the right hand of his democratic friend, Roger Sullivan.

The remains of William A. Stone were buried at Beloit this afternoon. Mr. Stone lived here for several years and was engaged in the hotel and saloon business. He came here from Beloit. When he retired from active business he moved to West Allis, Wis.

Surviving him are his wife, two sons, Louis E. Stone of Beloit and John Stone of Milwaukee, and a brother, E. C. Stone and a sister, Mrs. E. C. Hynd, both of Beloit. Mr. Stone was an old soldier and a member of Nelson Trustee Post, G. R., of this place. He owned the building occupied by T. F. Moran on Main street and the railroad tracks.

The Modern Woodman lodge held a public installation of their newly elected officers Tuesday evening at their lodge rooms which was followed by a four course banquet at the Hotel Sylvian. About 80 were present.

Mrs. James McCarty is very poorly and is nearly helpless at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leo Pye on school street. Mrs. McCarty is a most estimable woman and her many friends are sincerely sympathizing with her and her daughter in their affliction.

James A. Kilpatrick was surprised on looking through the current issue of the "Cement Age" Magazine to find a fine picture of his new home under course of construction, and accompanied with complete drawing of the plans. The arrangements, etc., are original with Mrs. Kilpatrick and it is quite a compliment to her that so much prominence and space would be given to their designs in the largest and most important publication of the cement trade. The matter, however, was published without their knowledge or consent. The bungalow is certainly a model of completeness in every detail.

MILTON

Milton, Jan. 22.—J. G. Carr and wife have returned from their visit in Milwaukee.

R. W. Clarke of Madison, was in town Tuesday night.

SHORT COURSE TO BE HELD ON NEXT WEEK

Study in Agriculture For Children Between Ages of Ten and Eighteen, Will Be Interesting.

Plans have been completed by the University of Wisconsin agricultural department, for the annual short course in agriculture for children, between the ages of ten and eighteen years of age, to be held at Madison between January 26th and 30th inclusive.

This course constitutes the fifth in the history of the work. Practical instruction in scoring and testing grains as well as visiting the various departments of the university is the aim of the work. The course can be taken up by boys and girls, between the ages specified. Some very interesting programs have been made out by the management, to insure this year's course the best given thus far.

Arrangements have been made to accommodate a larger number than the enrollment showed last year.

The cost for taking the course is nothing. The student pays only his or her fare, board and room rent for the week.

Any information on the subject can be obtained at the Gazette office, upon asking. There are about one hundred copies describing the course, with full particulars, to dispose of. The Gazette corn contestants should be interested in this course.

MILTON JUNCTION

Milton Junction, Jan. 22.—Rev. Schneider of Sheboygan spent Tuesday with friends here.

Mr. W. F. Smith and son, Henry, have purchased a new Buick car.

The Misses Lois and Kattie Morris entertained the Misses Nellie Morris and Jess Dudley of Janesville last night.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. G. K. Butts.

The W. R. C. held a meeting this afternoon.

The members of the Catholic church are holding a social in the Woodman hall tonight.

LYRIC-MAJESTIC

"Stanton's Last Fling," produced by Edison players in England and Belgium, is only one of the unusually good pictures shown at the Lyric Majestic.

Tomorrow's program will also be exceptional, including two-part features, an Edison and a George Kleine-Cine, yet the price will remain a nickel, as we refuse to raise except for the Saturday and Sunday specials.

Low Prices; New Stocks;

Low prices here don't mean cheap goods. Not a bit of it. We use the term "low prices" in the comparative sense only. Some goods are too cheap for us to handle, others too dear—in neither case do you receive proper returns for money expended. You can shop here with the full assurance that you are getting 100 cents worth of value for every dollar spent. We have no old merchandise to unload on the public. We turn stocks over so rapidly that nothing ever grows stale in The Big Store. Of course, there are innumerable bargains that are never hinted at in the newspaper. But they blossom all over the store and those who shop with alert eyes obtain many choice prizes.

HOGS AGAIN SHOW SLIGHT DECREASE

Drop of Five Cents With Receipts at Thirty-one Thousand—Cattle

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Jan. 22.—Hogs took another five cent drop this morning with receipts at thirty-one thousand. Cattle remained steady and sheep were steady to a shade lower. Cold weather signals had something to do with shipments. The following are the quotations.

OSHKOSH ELKS DEDICATE NEW CLUB HOUSE TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 22.—About 500 Elks from all around the state attended the formal dedication of the new club house of the Oshkosh Elks. The main speech was given by Judge John C. Karel of Milwaukee, who presented greetings in behalf of the state association, of which he is the head and also representative of the grand exalted ruler of Oshkosh.

"Good evening, governor," said Attorney P. H. Martin of Green Bay in greeting Judge Karel of Milwaukee at the Hangreim Hotel yesterday. "Good evening, senator," replied Mr. Karel. These salutations were the basis for considerable speculation among Oshkosh democrats and it is believed form the first announcement of the fact that Mr. Martin is candidate for United States senator. The idea is that Karel for governor and Martin for senator would make a strong combination.

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LORIE

A PLACE IN THE SUN.

On the advantages and disadvantages of ambition there are many opinions. Some assert that ambition is as the breath of life; that the man or woman without ambition is mentally dead.

"To seek, to strive, to find and not to yield," said Tennyson in his wonderful poem, "Ulysses." He strikes the keynote of the ambitious person's aims.

Others advise us to pursue our even ways, undisturbed by the stirrings of ambition. We are to do our best and let the future seek us out. These counselors are fond of quoting Wolsey's famous diatribe against ambition, as quoted by Shakespeare.

You remember the lines: I charge thee, fling away ambition. By that sin fall the angels.

Now comes a new phrase: "Seeking a place in the sun."

Its origin is unknown or, at any rate, unknown to the present writer. Emperor William of Germany created a stir with it several years ago when he asserted that Germany should "seek a place in the sun," meaning thereby that Germany should attempt to fill the position in the world to which she was entitled by her advance in wealth and science and population.

Places in the sun of publicity and renown are undesirable, no doubt.

But it depends on the means chosen to attain them. If they are sought by nations, for example, by means of overbearing force or tricky diplomacy they are not worth while.

And if individual persons seek them by analogous methods it were better for them to remain content with stations in the shade, not in the sun.

The sun can wither and burn and make desolate as well as stimulate and fructify. There is death in the rays of the sun sometimes, for all its life giving power.

If you expose yourself too much to the sun you may be sunstruck. And if you strive too eagerly for fame and place and power you may find that life in the shade holds far more desirable prizes.

It depends on the means you employ to get and hold your "place in the sun."

Foes of Memory.

Among the worst foes of the memory are too much food, too much physical exercise, and, strangely enough, too much education.

MAY USE ELECTRIC POWER AT STATION

Electric Motor and Pump Will Be Given a Trial at City Water Works Plant—Other News.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Jan. 22.—The Edgerton Electric Light company has made a proposition to the city of Edgerton to install an electric motor and pump at the waterworks plant and operate it for six months at a monthly rental of $10 and cost of current consumed. If at the end of that time the common council are not satisfied that it is a money-saver to the city, then it will be taken out; if it is deemed advisable to keep the outfit the price to the city will be about $1,000. This method of pumping would only necessitate one man at the station a small portion of the time instead of two as now. The common council have the proposition under consideration.

Brought Here for Burial.

The remains of Julius F. Otto, husband of Mrs. Martha Otto of this city, who died at East Moline, Ill., on the 17th inst., were brought here Tuesday and interment was made at the Albion Prairie cemetery, burial services at the grave being conducted by Rev. Blinksopp, pastor of the church there. Pneumonia is the cause of his death.

The deceased was born in Pasewalk, Germany, on December 10, 1841. There he took up the occupation of a miller in which he continued after his arrival in America, until about eighteen years ago, when he was forced to give up work on account of failing health. In his native home he was married to Miss Martha E. Weide, who with three children—Mrs. W. F. Colberg of Wilmington, North Dakota; Mrs. George Dickenson of Albion Prairie, and Prof. C. W. Otto of Marshfield, Wis., survive. The funeral was on Monday being attended by only relatives.

Is Seriously Injured.

Paul Mielke in going to his parental home Tuesday evening shortly after ten o'clock met with a serious accident. After crossing the bridge at the Edgerton Water company's works he lost his footing and in falling off the embankment got tangled up in the barb wire which resulted in serious bruises on his forehead and face. When found he was taken to the home of his sister, Mrs. August Krueger, where he now is being cared for. His physician reports that while the wound is quite serious the young man will recover, but undoubtedly will be confined for a long time.

Edgerton's New Lock-up.

The interior of the lock-up is now completed, having been completely overhauled, cement floor put in, closets and city water supplied and more windows in the west end. There is now room to care for about twelve prisoners, two new iron cages of two cells each having been installed. Inspector J. S. Crowder of the state board of control was here recently and his report to the board was most favorable. Chief of Police Springer has just received the following from the board: "The report indicates that you have a lock-up worthy of commendation when compared with many in the state and your city is to be congratulated on having such conditions possible."

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THE GOAL A MARATHON RACE THROUGH EDEN. The goal toward which most men struggle is "enough money to live comfortably on and to enjoy life." It seems to me that such a chase is like a Marathon race through the Garden of Eden, in which every contestant drops dead before he has finished.

Enough money to live comfortably on, means enough to give us food, clothing and a place to lay our heads. Above that, everything is relative. Enough money to enjoy life? If money is the test of happiness, the world is not enough money in the world. In one of his novels, Charles Reade tells us that the man who has achieved money, fame and power, is happy only if he dies before discovering they were not worth striving for.

Money in the abstract we do not care for. We want it, we explain, because there are so many things one can do with it. One can travel—see the world, things are at the disposal of the man with money. In our mind they spell happiness.

To see the world? Have you explored your own world yet? Whether you live in a great city or in the country, there are places or scenes that people with money come to see. If you lived in Boston, for instance, Longfellow's house, or a thousand other places of local or historic interest. If you lived in Los Angeles, you might travel thousands of miles to Boston, and spend days viewing them. Living in Boston you prefer to ignore them, and wish you might go to Los Angeles. We speak of the world, as a world merely of human beings. The things that we differ in degree, do not make made things, which while they differ in degree, do not make in kind. I know of one rich man who having exhausted the pleasures of travel—much more quickly than you will suppose—has returned to his home and found a new interest in life in his own back yard. With all that wealth can command at his call, he has found within him the one thing that contents him and holds his interest—the study of the old houses. Something that all his millions could not buy him; something that if all his millions were swept away, he would still have.

You remember Stevenson's burlesque on happiness: "This world is so full of a number of things, I am sure we should all be as happy as kings."

Now, Stevenson did not refer merely to automobiles, yachts, horses, jewels, houses and fine clothes—all man created things, but to those myriads of other interests, some man created, such as books, others God created, such as sunsets and dawns, sparkling seas, fields, flowers and forests and the hundreds of little creature worlds, study of any one of which will open up new vistas of interest—and happiness.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

TALK happiness. The world is sad enough. Without your woes. No path is wholly rough. Look for the places that are smooth and clear. And speak of those to rest the weary ear. Of earth, so hurt by one continuous strain. Of human discontent and grief and pain. —E. W. Wilcox.

DAINTY DISHES FOR CHRISTMAS.

Chestnuts may be used in different ways to grace the Christmas table. As stuffing for the fowl or as a sweet-meat, or dessert.

Chestnut Custard Pie.—Line a pie plate with a good rich crust. Roll a sufficient quantity of chestnuts to make a cupful of pulp when mashed. Add a pint of milk, the yolks of two eggs, a half cupful of sugar and a teaspoonful of vanilla. Turn this into the lined plate and spread a meringue over the top after it has baked 20 minutes. Make the meringue by beating the two whites, adding two table-spoonfuls of powdered sugar. Brown the meringue in a moderate oven.

Steamed Cider Pudding.—Cream a table-spoonful and a half of butter, add three table-spoonfuls of sugar and one egg. Beat all together until very light. Now pour in half a cupful each of raisins and currants mixed with a quarter of a cup of flour. Add half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, a quarter of a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, a pinch of cloves and a cupful of flour. Sift this all together into the batter, adding a quarter of a teaspoonful of soda. Pour into a well greased mold and steam one and a half hours. Turn out carefully, as the texture is delicate. Serve hot with a sauce flavored with the juice of an orange.

Chestnut Cup.—Have ready vanilla ice cream and chestnuts cooked in lemon or orange sirup and then cut in slices. Dip the chestnuts with a little sirup in the bottom of the sherbet cups, add a spoonful of vanilla and then pour over a little of the sirup, and top it with a spoonful of sweetened and flavored whipped cream.

Christmas Fruit Cookies.—Beat half a cup of butter to a cream, add half a cup of sugar, half a cup of raisins, chopped fine, three table-spoonfuls of milk. Sift together two cupfuls of flour, one-fourth teaspoon of soda, cloves and nutmeg and a half teaspoonful of cinnamon. Roll and cut. Bake one, and if it spreads add more flour.

Tooth Talks

In every endeavor to benefit humanity some organization must shoulder the responsibility of getting the movement started.

Mouth hygiene is just at present attracting a great deal of attention in our own country as well as in foreign countries.

The Janesville Civic Club, who have been investigating the value of mouth hygiene, find that it is one of the most important hygienic subjects of the present day.

Major W. O. Owen, surgeon United States army, says that proper care of the mouth and teeth is one of the most important of all the measures that are taken for the protection of the human body.

Dr. Chas. Mayo, one of the famous Mayo brothers of Rochester, Minnesota, says that diphtheria, appendicitis, pneumonia, etc., are caused by not keeping the mouth in as good condition as it should be.

Health and Beauty Helps

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN.

Unice: Certainly that brittleness of hair and your dandruff are dangerous conditions and should be corrected quickly by a proper shampoo. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, then pour this mixture over the head slowly and rub with the fingers. This makes an abundance of rich, cleansing lather, and rinsing leaves the scalp and hair wonderfully sweet and clean. These shampoos are very soothing to tender, itchy scalps and so invigorate the hair-coats that a growth of glossy, buoyant, healthy tresses, can be expected. Chestnut leaves are invaluable to the most growth of hair and prevent as well as overcome all scalp and hair difficulties.

Lotta M.: Here is a simple, inexpensive treatment for hairy growths: Mix a thick cream of soap powdered detolene and water. Apply to hairy parts and rub in for two to three minutes rub off and the skin will be smooth and hairless. Then wash the skin to remove the remaining detolene.

Gloria: I always use an erasmo tonic for my eyes when they are weak, watery and annoyed or use it as an eye wash when I am going to dinner or parties and wish to look especially nice. I buy an ounce of erasmo tonic from my druggist and mix it into one pint of clear water, then place two or three drops in each eye a few times a day until they are strong again. This eye tonic is also very good for granulated lids and will give a sparkle and delightful expression to dull, expressionless eyes.

Dolly: Your itchy scalp can be relieved and cured, as well as the falling hair, by the use of a saline tonic which at least a dozen of my personal friends are using and making at home from an ounce of quinine dissolved in a half pint of alcohol, to which should be added a half pint of water. They use this regularly by massaging into the roots of the hair and their claim the itching stops immediately, and the tonic improves the growth of the hair and helps nature make it beautiful and healthy.

Norah: Indeed, you can easily cure that tired, depressed feeling which is accompanied by such a sallow condition of the face. They are caused by sluggish blood (very common in the fall and winter months) which is not properly eliminating the poisons from the system. Take one-half pint of alcohol (whisky must not be used) pour one ounce of water, then add one-half pint of sugar and hot water to make a full quart. Take one table-spoonful of this concoction three times a day before meals. This will remove wrinkles, prevent crows' feet and make your face look quite young. Since it has removed my crows' feet I use it to clear and whiten my skin.

Women Worth While.

Mrs. Joseph McCormick.

By Selen Armstrong Harmon.
Mrs. Joseph McCormick, daughter of the late Senator Mark Hanna, and member of the smart sets of Washington, Chicago, New York and Newport, at her desk in one of the downtown buildings in Washington where she recently opened an office. In business-like attire and manner, she resembled any one of the millions of American wage-earning women who leave their homes every morning for the day's work in the business districts of our large cities.

"Do I mind telling you of my life's disease, dyspepsia, tonsillitis, tuberculosis, etc., are caused by not keeping the mouth in as good condition as it should be. Brushing the teeth and gums are of more value than washing the hands and face."

The most effective method known at present for carrying out of mouth hygiene is what is known as the tooth brush drill for school children. The drill is fast becoming popular in the larger cities and the benefits derived from it play a very important part in the health of school children. Clean teeth means—less toothache, better digestion, better health, higher school grades, less absence from school, less contagious diseases, etc.

Cities like New York, Boston, and Cleveland, etc., have not only dental inspection but have tooth brush drills, and make you mouth hygiene and public lectures.

The Civic Club through the school authorities are endeavoring to have the tooth brush drill used in our city schools. The prevention of one dental tooth or one night toothache will more than pay the cost to any family. The work will be taken up in the lower grades first.

As to the method of brushing the teeth, the most practical manner of instruction is the tooth brush drill. In this drill the teacher demonstrates to the pupils the correct use of the brush, using her own brush, dry, in pantomime, and the class doing the same.

The correct manner of using the brush prevents sore and bleeding gums. Sore and bleeding gums are open for infection all the time. The club has made arrangements whereby the children can obtain the brush for this drill at five cents apiece, getting them from the teacher at school. The brushes will be supplied to the teacher by the club.

The club invites everyone to take an active interest in this work and earnestly request the parents to send five cents with each child when requested to do so by the teacher. This is not a money making scheme. Although the parents surely will be money in pocket if only one cavity is prevented in each family.

Remember the old saying, "That an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

of promptness, industry, and business methods on which other business offices are conducted."

In gaining the consent of Mrs. McCormick to serve as chairman of the Congressional Committee, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw and Miss Jane Addams secured a valuable ally to the cause. Few women in public work today have the executive ability and the valuable experience that Mrs. McCormick brings to anything she may undertake. As a more girl she began to work for the social welfare by interesting herself actively in the welfare of the employees of her father, the late Senator Hanna.

Not long ago, Mrs. McCormick showed her enterprise and originality in another venture, the establishment of a Washington club for working girls. She guaranteed to every doubting Thomas that she would make a profit from 3 1/2 to 4 1/2 per cent on her investment. She remodeled and redecorated two old houses, advertised in the Washington papers for girl lodgers, and gave them room and board at prices ranging from two to seven dollars a week. The venture was successful.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

Did you ever look into a ray of sunlight, as it slants across a room coming through a window and notice the particles of dust it contains? This is the air that we are continually breathing into our bodies, over and over again. If we are well and strong it is not a pleasant thought to think of the grime-laden air we are taking into our bodies. If we are not possessed of a strong constitution it is even more difficult to ward off sickness from this source, and babies or older people are doubly apt to feel the effects of air that is not pure and fresh.

To be healthy we must all have plenty of air that is fresh every hour of the day and night, and if the children be robust, early and raised in the doctrine of fresh air, no matter what the weather, the dangers of colds will almost be totally eliminated.

Time was when Mothers would not think of uncovering the face of their baby out doors if the weather was at all severe; that is well nigh past; today babies sleep out doors, on porches—well covered of course—and strong robust children are the result. If you are not in favor of children sleeping out doors have all the windows down from the top in the room where they do sleep and you will have a child that will awake in the morning refreshed, wide awake, ready to begin the day with every sense mentally alert.

If you think the draft is apt to be rather strong with the windows open, take a thin piece of muslin cloth across the open space and you will have the benefit of the fresh air with homes well aired.

If you have not a screen and think one necessary you can easily make one at home from a clothesbar. It will be economical and, if you devote a little time and work to the making it will be ornamental, as well as serviceable. At all events, have your homes well aired.

SUITS - COATS - MILLINERY

Greatest Values Ever Offered In Any HALF PRICE SUIT SALE

THE reason for the above statement is plain, these suits we are now offering at half price are much higher priced than the suits sold at average half price suit sales and to us represent more of a cut in profit than if we gave away cheaper suits. You get all this extra value.

There are suits here for misses and women; latest patterns and fabrics; on each of which there is a very distinct saving. Come in and see them.

Household Hints

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.
To preserve glass mangles, dip them in vinegar and let dry thoroughly before burning them off. They will last much longer.

Make This and Try It for Coughs
This Home-Made Remedy has no Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually, coughs and every cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps and a cough.

This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quaiacal and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan. Making-cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equalled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

fore burning them off. They will last much longer.

When peeling sweet potatoes, if you will put just a little vinegar in the water that they are to be dropped into, they will not become dark, as they will do.

To impart a delicate odor to linen, saturate a piece of cotton or blotting paper with oil of lavender and place it among the various articles.

THE TABLE.
Sour Milk Griddle Cakes.—Two and one-half cups of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two cups of sour milk, one and one-quarter teaspoonfuls of soda, one egg. Mix and sift the flour, salt and soda; add the sour milk and the egg well beaten. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased hot griddle, cook on one side. When puffed, full of bubbles and cooked on edges, turn and cook the other side. Serve with butter and maple syrup.

Imperial Muffins.—One cup of scalded milk, one-quarter cup of salt, one-third of a yeast cake dissolved in one-quarter cup of lukewarm water, one and three-quarters cups of flour, one cup of cornmeal, one-quarter cup of butter. Add the sugar, two cups of boiling water, one table-spoonful of salt, one-half cup of cream. Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water twenty minutes or until soft, drain in a strainer, pour over it cold water to prevent pieces from adhering, add cream, beat and season with salt.

Boiled Macaroni.—Three-quarters cup of macaroni broken in inch pieces, two cups of boiling water, one table-spoonful of salt, one-half cup of cream. Cook the macaroni in boiling salted water twenty minutes or until soft, drain in a strainer, pour over it cold water to prevent pieces from adhering, add cream, beat and season with salt.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind.
It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than most extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.

We don't sell ready-made, hand-me-down, factory-manufactured Beef,
Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientifically trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfennig, 75c a full pint. Note its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River streets.

There are extra copies of the Review edition of the Gazette on hand if you wish them phone 77-9 rings,

SHERIFF'S SALE.

By virtue of an execution, issued out of and under the seal of the Circuit Court in and for the County of Rock and State of Wisconsin, upon a judgment rendered in a Justice Court before Stanley D. Tallman, a Justice of the Peace of the County of Rock and transcribed to said Circuit Court and docketed in said Circuit Court on the first day of December, 1913, in an action wherein Otto Schoenrock is plaintiff, and George Brandt is defendant, in favor of the said plaintiff, and against the said defendant, for the sum of fifty-eight dollars and ninety-seven cents ($58.97) damages and costs, which execution was directed and delivered to me as sheriff in and for said county of Rock, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said defendant George Brandt in and to the following described real estate:
